

ADMIRAL BULLETIN

PRO

► MUST BE IN PLAY

Our hero. Head of the British Office of Special Projects, based out of the old Eppings Bank building on High Street in London, UK.

MIRANDA

PRO

► MUST BE IN PLAY

Bulletin's second in command. A woman of mysterious past. Crisp, dry and sharp, she is the brains behind the Bulletin. When not on missions, she spends her days pondering and cataloguing the mysteries she's packed away from past adventures in the Eppings vaults. The precise nature of her relationship with Bulletin is an enduring mystery.

DR. POSTHASTE

PRO / NEU

The Admiral Bulletin of a couple generations previous. He keeps a room at Eppings on High Street and serves as Bulletin's mentor. He has a taste for good mysteries and good scotch, and keeps a remarkably full schedule for an old man enjoying retirement.

ROBESPIERRE

PRO / NEU

► REQUIRES MAGIC

The jovial and unswervable Frenchman, with only a confusing swirl of illusions for a head. Overtaken by the mystical energies within at a young age, he has spent his life searching for the secrets of his peculiar transformation. One of Bulletin's oldest and most loyal comrades.

LORD TIMOTHY

PRO / NEU

► REQUIRES ANTAGONISM

So closely Bulletin's match in duties, rank and age that it's inevitable that they should deeply loathe one another, Lord Timothy never the less will work with Bulletin when the well-being of Britain is at stake. Suggestion of a past with Miranda, who is oddly pleasant with him.

MERIDETH "MIMI" SONGBIRD

PRO

The front desk girl at Eppings on High Street, rarely brought on missions. She is young, anxious to please, and very smart. Mimi spends much of her time assisting Miranda, and regards the older woman with a hero's worship. Lord Timothy was somehow involved in her decision to leave New Zealand, and she becomes brittle at his mention.

MADAME LACHANCE

PRO / NEU

► REQUIRES SPIRITUALISM/MAGIC

French-Creole spiritualist given to remarkable feats of intuition — or are they messages from the spirit world? Silky and aloof, but prone to open flirtation with Bulletin — especially with Miranda in earshot.

SPACE BOY

PRO / NEU / VIL

► REQUIRES SCI-FI

An astronaut of the Royal Space Force, somehow transported back to Bulletin's day. He is garrulous, gee-whiz and mischievous — not to mention a bit annoying.

TACKWATER

PRO / NEU / VIL

► REQUIRES POTBOILER

Headquartered in a forgotten office in the London Police Annex, Tackwater has men in high places, low places and everywhere inbetween. Sharp-featured, angular and greying, the ambiguity of his rank and responsibilities bequeaths him a great deal of power. Apt to call Bulletin in when he smells something above the profitable levels of corruption.

JIM GEAR

PRO / NEU

Bulletin's miracle mechanic. A young Scotsman prone to shouting, cussing, cracking jokes and loudly complaining. If Gear can't fix it, it's a hippopotamus.
